GOES UP IN SMOKE ABANDONED HOUSE

Alto-Richardson Bay volunteer firemen, usually dedicated to fighting fires to save homes, pulled a switch yesterday and intentionally burned down a house. It was an ancient, long-vacant five room residence in rear of the Alto School playground. School officials feared for the safety of children playing in the old structure and obtained permission to demolish it. Alto Fire Chief Carl O. Heynan Jr. obliged by arranging to have Alto-Richardson Bay firemen do the job yesterday afternoon. The house was owned by Robert Dollar estate which consented to its destruction. (Jim Kean photo)

Bay Counties Meet Favors N. B. Aqueduct

The 14-county Bay Counties Water Problems Committee went on record over the weekend in favor of "all out action" for development of the North Bay Aqueduct.

At the same time the committee proposed that the legislators from the four counties most directly affected-Marin, Sonoma, Napa and Solanojointly sponsor legislation amied at the project's construc-

He said he would call a meeting of the legislators in Sacramento to see what form the legislation should take. Marin Senator John F. McCarthy already has indicated he will introduce such legislation.

P. A. Towner, chief counsel for the Department of Water Resources, was principal speaker at the meeting. He reviewed the water program proposed by Gov. Edmund G. Brown, which made no mention of the North Bay project. Brown told his press conference Friday he "has plans" for the aqueduct, but did not detail them.

Towner reported that the reason it had been left out of the program was because of a lack of support on the part of the counties and people involved.

MARINITES ATTEND

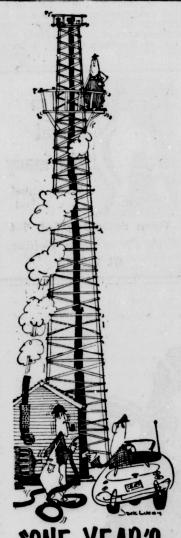

Supervisor Vera Schultz, Marin's representative on the water committee, made the motion for 14-county backing; Sonoma representatives seconded it. It was passed unanimously.

Representatives of two Marin water districts, Jerome B. Gilbert, chief engineer and assistant general manager of the North Marin Water District, and William Grant, manager of Marin Municipal Water District's dam project, both were present and testified.

They said that the two districts endorse the North Bay Aqueduct project and have included it in their long range programs.

Mrs. Schultz also reported that the four counties had re ceived an invitation from Senator Stephen P. Teale (D-Westpoint) to testify on the area's water needs before his special committee on water problems.

Supervisor William Gnoss of Novato also attended and participated in the discussion.

A SCREAMING SITUATION—Philadelphia Warrior Coach Paul Seymour screams and points, Official Dick Powers screams and points and the crowd joined in for good measure when Seymour was kicked out of the game for charging onto the floor and jostling Powers and Official Jim Duffy during a turbulent third quarter of an NBA basketball game yesterday between Cincinnati and Syracuse. A national television audience saw Seymour charge Duffy after the latter had called a foul on Syracuse player Dolph Shayes for heckling. Cincinnati won, 109-104.

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) - A San Francisco couple and a former New Yorker go on trial today before a federal court against the United States during the Korean conflict.

They were John Powell, 40, and his wife, Sylvia, 38, and Julian Schuman, 38, who now makes his home in San Francisco. The Powells published Speaks To the China Monthly Review in Shanghai during the Korean War and Schuman served as Drake Pupils War, and Schuman served as their associate editor. JURY INDICTMENT

The defendants were indicted by a federal grand jury in April, 1956, on 13 counts of false statements in the magazine to "promote the success" of the Red armies and hamper American military forces in Korea.

One of these counts accused Powell of printing that the United States used germ warfare against North Korean and Communist Chinese troops.

STAR WITNESSES Prospective witnesses mentioned by attorneys include Gens. Douglas MacArthur, Mark Clark and Matthew Ridgway, and former U.S. Secretary

The crowd roared in astonishment. But Chuck Ryan of St. Paul, Minn., sailing through the air skiless, cooly surveyed his predicament.

"I figured the only thing to do was to come in like a baseball player sliding into second," Ryan said.

He did. And he slid, and slid, and slid. Ryan wound up about 250 feet from his takeoff point, and not especially embarrassed. The 26-year-old part-time college student won no titles at the annual Duluth Invitational Ski meet, but his flight was easily the most spectacular of the day.

"I just jumped out of my skis," said Ryan, a veteran of nine years in ski jumping.

"The skis were brand new. I was testing them for the first time. Something was wrong with the binders. As soon as I took off the skis came off. I had all the momentum, of course.

This Might Be The Machine To Launch World Peace

Not enough attention has been focused on a recent announcement which history may prove to be even more important than the launching of the Sputnik.

We refer to the successful development of a small atomic generator.

Although the scientists themselves spoke of it as "a significant breakthrough," the general public has hardly given it a second thought.

Just think of what such a generator could mean. This one weighed only five pounds, yet it could do the work of three quarters of a ton of batteries. Scientists said it could power all the radio and other scientific instruments in an earth satellite for a year.

That means that it could power the same equipment here for a year, as well.

It means that small portable atomic generators could be moved into backward areas of the world where there is no electricity at present. It could mean real progress for some of the most backward countries in the world, a true breakthrough in the battle to relieve man's suffering.

Just one small machine, without a single moving part, could change the world, provide plenty for the underprivileged everywhere and really launch an era of peace.

This might be the machine.

Voters Should Nominate

We hail the introduction of a bill by Democratic Assemblyman Charles H. Wilson of Los Angeles.

Wilson's bill (AB 611) would prohibit pre-election endorsements of candidates by any organization whose name includes the name of a political party.

This is something we have long believed. The California Democratic Council and the California Republican Assembly both have assumed almost official status as the nominating agencies of their respective parties.

This is exactly what direct primaries were designed to eliminate, an unofficial nomination of candidates by selfappointed bodies.

Yet when candidates are endorsed by

CAPITOL REPORT

MORE OF THIS AND MORE OF THAT

Gov. Brown Forces In Assembly Taste Defeat

By EDWIN S. CAPPS

SACRAMENTO (CNS) -When the roll was called in yonder (the State Assembly), it turned up with 41 votes against the forces of Gov. Edmund G. Brown.

This all takes a bit of qualification, but it was a roll call that can be expected to be repeated on numerous occasions during the 1959 session, with a couple of exceptions.

Any way you look at it, Assemblyman Jesse M. Unruh (D-Los Angeles), southern California campaign manager for Brown and currently his personal floor leader in the Assembly, laid his cards on the line. He was joined by Assemblyman William A. Munnell (D-Montebello), majority leader of the Democrat-controlled house and Brown's candidate for new state chairman of the party. They lost.

THEY WERE defeated, curiously enough, by 41 votes, a simple majority of the Assembly.

The matter under debate was inconsequential, as admitted by both sides. It was a resolution congratulating Rep. Glennard P. Lipscomb on being elected chairman of the 14-member GOP delegation in Congress. In many ways, it was a carbon copy of hundreds of similar resolutions approved by the houses, with little significance and very little understanding on the part of the membership.

UNRUH BEGAN to edge out on his limb when he challenged the propriety of the resolution, by Assemblyman Seth J. Johnson (R-Los Angeles). Unruh claimed that, if there were to be any resolution, it should be one for Rep. Harry R. Sheppard (D-San Bernardino), who was elected chairman of the entire 30man delegation, not to mention Rep. Cecil R. King (D-Los Angeles), the new secre-

Johnson agreed the Democratic congressmen were worthy of commendation and agreed to support a similar resolution for them. However, for the time being, he invited Unruh to keep his hands off his resolution.

MAYBE IT'S NOT PHONY

Take Another Look At Civil Rights Plan

By LYLE C. WILSON

another look at the civil rights bill proposed by Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex.) before writing it off as a phony.

Action (ADA), the lefty heir of FDR's New Deal, would so write it off. ADA called the Avoiding costly litigation, civil rights proposal "A typical Johnson compromise, scratchthe late Mrs. Regula W. Aling the surface of the civil bertus, 87-year-old San Rafael rights problem and carefully eccentric, reached a settlerefraining from digging down ment with relatives of the to its heart - school segregaaged woman who were contesting the will. Under the

ADA, Northern Democrats in general and the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP) apparently want a congressional endorsement of the Supreme Court's ruling

SOME OF THOSE opposing segregation probably would prefer congressional action to enforce desegregation of southern schools. The implication of that preference is that desegregation should be enforced throughout the South - as in Little Rock by the armed forces of the United States.

Assuming that there is a valid argument against Congress attempting to deal directly with the school problem, it probably would be this:

patience reasonably could be expected to help toward a solution of the great social and fronting Southern states.

2 - That direct congressional intervention, especially with enforcing legislation, would reduce greatly the opportunity of either time or patience to heal raw wounds.

Not just around the corner, but far down the road there appears to be one decisive, home-grown solution to the South's problem of racial integration of its schools.

That solution would be peaceful integration of schools in the South under conditions pretty much conforming to the state's rights point of view of even the most extremist of southern segregationists.

GIVEN TIME and patience this could and may come to pass by reason of increased political activity of Southern Negroes. The Negro vote already is a political powerhouse in the Northern states. Southern Negroes are more numerous actually and proportionately than are Negroes in the North. But they don't vote much.

There are enough Negroes in the South to put the segregation problem far toward solution if they would and could register and vote. This sort of solution was suggested by President Eisenhower in a National Press Club speech. The fourth section of the proposed Johnson civil rights bill would help bring that about.

The section would give the justice department instant subpena to obtain all registration and other records needed to prepare voting-rights cases. Perhaps Southern Negroes will vote themselves into white schools.

Celeste Holm's Drink Is Milk, But She Has Champagne Spirit

But she is a gal with a champagne spirit, and has the easy air of one who floats through life in a saddle on a bubble.

"I'm supposed to have the energy of six wildcats," she remarked, "but I'm not aware Celeste made an unplanned theatrical debut at the age of 3. Her mother and father had taken her to lunch at the old Waldorf - Astoria. She was seated on two phone books at a table when the chamber music started.

The small child slipped down and began to dance, un-

THREE MINUTES A DAY

Startled back into awareness the child ran, sobbing, and hid under the table. When her mother gently asked why she had wanted to dance, Celeste wept:

"I didn't want to waste the music!'

This incident from her childhood gives a good insight into Miss Holm. She never has been one to waste the music of living.

"You pay for what you get in this world," she observed. "But, on the other hand, you also get what you pay for. "It's a fair deal."

> A girl who has shown she can do practically anything in the theater except possibly the Indian rope trick, Celeste was the last leading lady for George M. Cohan. She made Broadway history with her singing of "I'm Jist a Girl Who Cain't Say No" in "Oklahoma!" and she won a Hollywood Oscar in the film "Gentleman's Agreement."

HER GIFT for satire shines brightly now in her latest Broadway comedy, "Third Best Sport." The third best sport — after sex and baseball, according to the authors tary. - is attending business con-

As a bride forced to spend her honeymoon at a business convention, Miss Holm hilariously explodes the current myth of "The Corporation Wife" — that a woman who marries an executive also marries his corporation.

THE ROLE is perfectly suited for Celeste, who is an individualist to the core. If anything in life bores her, it is social hypocrisy.

"I hate the idea of always trying to find tags for people so you can fit them nicely into some pigeonhole of your mind -- whether they really fit there or not," she said.

"It is so boring to have people judge what you are merely on the basis of your job or your income. People fascinate me more than anything else in the world — but not their jobs or their income taxes!"

'HOW ABOUT MORE OF THIS?'

"I wonder if this is the way it's going to be. If we are going to get partisan on such insignificant items, I don't see how we ever are going to bring harmony."

THE SIGNIFICANT roll-call on the debate came on a motion of Assemblyman A. Phillip Burton (D-San Francisco) to chase the Johnson resolution back to the committee. This would have sent it to a Democrat - controlled Rules Committee, where the membership would have tacked on every successful Democratic candidate in the November elections. Vote on Burton's motion was 31 in favor and 41 against a sound defeat for the Democrats. Not a single Republican voted against his party, but 11 Democrats jumped the line. And, on the record of previous performances, most can be expected to act similarly as the session pro-

The political situation in his objectives, noting that Sausalito may soon come to a head with City Manager Don Duerr being the central figure as he stands his ground in the police chief imbroglio.

Duerr, representing the modern concept of city management, has consistently maintained that his goal is to provide Sausalito residents with the best government at the lowest cost. One phase of this, he has contended, is to get the best possible man for police chief, in or out of the present police department.

To do this, he contends, an examination must be conducted in accordance with the city's civil service ordinance. Further, he says, the examination should be open to all qualified men, regardless of where they live or work.

Twenty-two such applicants took a written test a week ago and today those who survived are taking an oral examina-

CITY COUNCILMAN George Keeney, 17-year resident of Sausalito and recently re-elected after an absence of a few years from local politics, disagrees violently with Duerr's entire concept.

Keeney maintains that to obtain the highest esprit de corps, and therefore the best service from the city's personnel - whether police, fire, street or other departments - it must be accepted that each will have reasonable expectation of being eligible for promotion from within the ranks, rather than having to compete with some one from outside the area.

Furthermore, says Keeney, if it becomes necessary to give an examination it certainly should not be done by an outside organization. Last week's test was given by Kroeger and Associates of San Francisco.

Keeney gets voluble and extended support from City Attorney John Ehlen, also a former councilman and exmayor who has labelled Duerr's program "poppycock." Not quite as vociferous but equally adamant is native Sausalitan John Harlan, publisher of the Marin (Nee Saus-

TV Science Show Deals

"The Alphabet Conspiracy" the new Bell System science series program, will be seen at 7:30 p.m. today over KRON-TV, Channel 4.

The program, the sixth in the series, will star Dr. Frank Baxter as "Dr. Linguistics," who saves the alphabet from a trio of conspirators: the Mad Hatter, played by Hans Conried, Jabberwock, played by Dolores Starr, and Judy, a 12-year-old who is tired of her grammar lessons. Judy's part will be played by Cheryl Callaway, who has been acting since the age of two.

The conspiracy to destroy language is itself destroyed by Dr. Linguistics who, by pointing out the difficulty of doing this, dissuades the three con-

Dr. Linguistics states his case for language by pointing out to the three that the alphabet is only a minor target for them, because languages can and do live without alphabets.

THEY ALL HAVE THEIR HEARTS IN IT - The butcher, the baker and the candlestick maker joined forces today to make the first "Heart Days for Business" contributions to the 1958 Heart Fund drive in Marin. And just to make it special, butcher Dan Blaga of Tamalpais Meat Market cut the cake baked by Fred Kittler of Baronial Bakery while C. R. Stroerker of Colonial Wax Products contributed an oversize candle made by his firm. The fellow waiting for a piece of cake? With interest added, Gunn said, the $350,000 could be amortized over 25 years at a cost of about $2 per family per month.

Gunn's committee has coordinated all the reports and now is preparing a questionnaire permitting Terra Linda residents to express their opinions before the community services district board decides whether to call a bond election.

Gunn said proposed items of major cost are the swimming pools (about $150,000) and the pavilion (about $67,500).
